

Emily Burton
MSCCN Outreach Coordinator, Gulf Coast Florida
Team

Until 2005 Emily Burton's only contact with the military was the recruiter she spoke with when considering her career options beyond high school. That all changed after meeting her husband and becoming an Army spouse in 2007. Since then, Emily has experienced multiple relocations and deployments, and has developed a passion to assist those around her in the military community, whether it be lending her talents and skills or just lending an ear to listen.

Emily received her Bachelor of Arts degree from Northern Kentucky University in Speech Communication with a minor in Marketing. During her time at NKU she achieved a life-long goal of studying abroad in London.

Later, after a six month job opportunity in London, she returned to Kentucky to begin an internationally-focused career with a non-profit program that partnered with a U.S. Department of State program called Community Connections. Emily then transitioned to higher education with a focus in study abroad. Since becoming an Army spouse she has faced the challenges of relocation, unemployment, and job searching, like so many others.

Emily joined MSCCN in April 2010 as an Outreach Coordinator for the Gulf Coast Florida Team.
