

Stacy Bayton

Outreach Coordinator and National Grants Team Lead, Panhandle and North Florida Region

Stacy L. Bayton was raised in a military family, and served in the US Coast Guard Reserve and US Marines herself before getting out of the service to pursue careers in law, business, and public service.

Stacy has a degree in pre-law and is currently pursuing one in nonprofit business management. She has founded several businesses over the last seven years, a few of which include an environmental redevelopment company, business consultation and investor relations, and most currently a nonprofit organization called NaturalEarth, which is dedicated to improving the health of our citizens through programs that balance social, economic, and environmental needs.

She is the wife of an active duty Marine, the mother of four children, a military veteran, an entrepreneur, an environmental and social activist, and a leader. She has co-chaired various women's business groups, founded the "Healthy Earth, Healthy Body Initiative", and is currently writing her first book.

Stacy has a passion for helping those who are in need, particularly those within the military community as she understands the struggles that spouses and Veterans face both during and after their service.

Favorite quote: "Do not go where the path may lead, go instead where there is no path and leave a trail." Ralph Waldo Emerson